

Orientation Script

Hi, my name is Florian. I'll be working with you in today's session. We're here to evaluate a web application (PCEE), which is intended to explain the concept of the parallel coordinates visualisation technique.

Feel free to look around the application as you like. Please use your experience and judgement to provide feedback on the usability and utility of the application. If you wish, you can draw some additional inspiration from the provided heuristics, ten broad principles of good user interface design.

Since the system is in active development, there will probably be some rough edges and bugs, and things may not work exactly as you expect. If you have any questions, you can ask me at any time.

While you are working, I will be taking some notes. We will also be recording the session for the later analysis.

If you feel uncomfortable, you may stop the evaluation any time.

Do you have any questions up front?

If not, then let's begin by filling in the consent form.
